The problem with dead virus vaccines is they don't provide immunity that is robust or durable enough to get a license. Very early on they learned that if they put something horrendously toxic into that vaccine with the dead virus, the body's immune system would be shocked by that toxic material and say, Wholly cow! Whatever this is, is really dangerous, and I'm going to remember it and I'm going to produce a huge allergic reaction to that viral particle—the antigen particle—the next time I see it. They realized that they could use dead virus vaccines as long as they put a really horrendously toxic adjuvant into the vaccine. An adjuvant means something that adds to or boosts the immune response.

Vaccinologists began a search around the world for the most toxic substances known to man. And, they found them, particularly mercury, which for many years they said they were putting into the vaccine as a preservative, but it was not in there as a preservative; it was in there as an adjuvant. Actually, Peter Marks and Tony Fauci told this to me and Mark Hyman and Lynn Redwood, when we had a meeting with them in 2015. We said to them, "Why can't you take the mercury out of the vaccines. You don't need a preservative. You can use single pod doses." They said to us, "Well, actually, it's not in the vaccine as a preservative; it's there as an adjuvant." Lynn whispered to me at that meeting, "That's illegal." That's what happened. It's illegal to use an adjuvant that is dangerous. You have to prove that it is not dangerous, and they couldn't do that with mercury. So, they said we'll put it in there as an adjuvant, but we'll call it a preservative, because there is no rule that you can't use a toxic preservative. That's what they have been doing all that time.

Mercury is the most toxic element that we know of in the universe that is not radioactive. It is a thousand times more neurotoxic than lead. Would you ever allow anybody to shoot your child up with lead? Of course not. Mercury is a thousand times worse, and we gave that to every child in America for 25 years. We're living with the consequences right now, which is a vaccine generation that began in 1989. We took it out of the pediatric vaccines in 2003, but only in the United States and Europe. They continued to give it to black children, 161 million children in Africa.

We said, "Why, in 2003, when you took it out of the pediatric vaccine, the HIP vaccine, and the hepatitis B—they took it out of those vaccines, and the put aluminum in those vaccines, instead. The same year, 2003, they put mercury in the flu vaccine, and the mandated flu [vaccine] to every child, every year of life beginning at six months, and to pregnant women! So, the children in America never got a break from mercury. And, we said to Bill Thompson (WHO), "Why in the world did they do that? They were this close to having it taken out of the vaccines. Why did they put it back in the flu vaccine when they took it out of the others?" He said that the WHO went to CDC and said, "You can't take it out of all the vaccines because the black people in Africa are going to complain. The black people, the black countries and the ministers of those nations are saying, "Why are you only giving mercury to Africans? You're taking it out of all the vaccines given to white people. Why are you doing that, and only giving this very toxic brain poison to our black children?"

Of course the reason they are doing that is because it is cheaper; it's a couple pennies cheaper per vial. They didn't care if they were poisoning all these kids in Africa. So, the WHO went to the CDC and said, "You can't take it out of all your vaccines because it's going to make us look bad in Africa. We won't be able to sell this in those countries anymore." So, as a favor to WHO, [the] CDC added mercury back into one vaccine, which was the flu vaccine, which they continue to give our pregnant women and [our] children. That's why.

There are no studies that show that mercury can be given to children safely and a lot of kids that were injured ... I was reading recently about John Anthony Morris, one of the greatest bacteriologists in history. He was the chief bacteriologist at NIH (National Institute of Health) for thirty-two years. He was the guy who was in charge in the early 1970s, of developing the flu vaccine.

He told his bosses at NIH that “this is a fraudulent vaccine; it doesn’t work. It kills people; it causes brain damage, and it may actually cause people to get the flu” He was told to shut up.

His bosses went to congress. There was a swine flu epidemic in 1976, that began at Fort Dix. One soldier died, and they said this was the beginning of a swine flu pandemic. It never materialized. They said, “this is the beginning, and it’s going to kill more people than the Spanish flu—50 million people, 140 million people could die from this disease. They went to President Gerald Ford and got $135 million, which was a huge amount of money back then, to create 140 million flu shots to give to 140 million Americans.

They ended up firing John Anthony Morris because he would not keep his mouth shut. They locked his lab; they stole all of his notebooks, and they fired him for returning library books late. That was the excuse that they needed to drum up because this guy was such a good employee that he had never done anything else wrong in thirty-two years. He, ultimately, sued them and was completely exonerated by the board.

He gave an interview at The New York Times in 1987 and said, “In the eleven years since this happened, they have been selling this flu vaccine to the American public, and they have done nothing to improve it. It’s fraudulent.”

During that pandemic, about 500 people got Guillain-Barre Syndrome. I think by 1987 the government had paid out 160 million dollars to people who were injured by that vaccine, and in the end they may have been paid a billion dollars. And, John said, up to the day he died, “the flu shot is getting worse and worse. Flu shots do not work; they make people sick. They make it more likely you’re going to get respiratory illness, which at that time, they called all respiratory illness the flu.”

The Cochrane Collaboration, which is the ultimate arbiter for vaccine safety has now done two medical reviews of all the literature that has ever been published on the flu shot. They did it in 2010 and 2014. The BMJ (British Medical Journal), Peter Doshi, [Associate Editor] did his own med review in 2017, and they all confirmed what John Anthony Morris said back in 1976. The flu shot is a fraud. You need to give 100 flu shots, at best, to prevent one case of flu, and there are no deaths prevented, and no hospitalizations prevented. If you get the flu shot, you are more likely to transmit the flu to people who didn’t get it.

They continue to push this shot year after year. How do they push it? They lie about the flu deaths. If you look at the CDCs mortality and morbidity data, that data keeps track of the actual flu deaths year by year. What you’ll see is that on an average there are about 2,000 people who die from the flu every year in our country, but that’s not what you hear from CNN or from the CDC. They have been telling you for years is that between 47,000 and 90,000 people die. They tell you that to convince you to go get that flu shot. Only 2,000 people die.

I’ve written letters and done everything I can, to Sanjay Gupta, to Anderson Cooper, to all of the hosts of all of the news shows, and said, “You cannot keep lying about this.” What they are doing is they are taking the pneumonia tests, which are between 45,000 and 85,000 a year, and they are conflating those with flu deaths. Only about seven percent of people who die from pneumonia test positive for the flu. Telling people those pneumonia deaths are actually flu deaths is a lie. Sanjay Gupta knows that he is lying; Anderson Cooper knows that he is lying, because I’ve written them and I’ve shown them the data. Yet, they lie year after year. As far as I’m concerned, they’re all lying. CNN is systematically lying to protect the pharmaceutical paradigm that is promoted by its biggest advertisers. It is reprehensible, and it is a huge tragedy for American Democracy.
